She has also been closely involved with the Cambridge ESOL DELTA examinations and was the joint chief assessor between 1992 and 2002. ### Use it or lose it!

Revision is a vital part of the learning process, but students cannot always be relied upon to do it for themselves. Therefore, teachers and textbook writers need to accept responsibility for ensuring that students see, hear and use new language as often as possible. Gillie Cunningham will explore ways in which we can make revision a consistent and fun part of every lesson.
